FIRST PLANK IN PLATFORM

I favor a safer system of securing deposits in banks, as these funds represent the incomes of communities and individuals, and in many instances their life's savings.

Instead of Banks securing their deposits with their own assets, as they may now do, they should be required to invest the public funds in approved securities, and an additional ample bond to protect the private deposits.

The Bankers of Texas, wisely or unwisely, have for a number of years adopted a plan to pay $5,000.00 cash or outside dead Bank Robbers, and they declared at their state meeting at Fort Worth on May 14th that it has and a wholesome effect.

Within the last few years more than two hundred Banks in Texas have "busted" from the inside, and thousands of Texas depositors and school districts have lost millions of dollars, rendering many widows and orphans penniless.

Why not pass a law offering a reward of $5,000.00 cash for the arrest and conviction of each inside Bank defaulter?

Three years the Bankers' $5,000.00 reward has been in effect, and three outside Bank Robbers have been killed and paid for. Within the same period of time scores of Banks have "busted" from the inside. Why discriminate between the "ins" and the "outs"?

Reared on a farm, I know from experience something of the agricultural interest of the state and of the difficulties of those who toil.

Salutary laws should be enacted to foster and encourage these two great industries—Agriculture and Labor.

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides.

"Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say.

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it." Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New Bern, N. Buick Presents Straight Eights

A syncro-mesh transmission and a valve-in-head straight eight engine are the outstanding features of the 1931 Buick line. The Two-Door Sedan, one of twenty new models, is shown above.

Exciting the interest of the motoring world and arousing a wide-spread comment of approval, the new 1931 Buick line powered with straight eight valve-in-head motors was presented on Saturday, July 26. Offered in four new series, the 1931 Buick Eight holds many surprises for show-room visitors.

In addition to its advanced straight eight valve-in-head power plant, the new car also has a syncro-mesh transmission, new insulated body by Fisher, and many other important advances which, according to E. T. Strong, president of the Buick Motor Company, make the new eight the outstanding car of the company's history.

Many refinements have been incorporated in the beautiful new Fisher body, and changes in construction have been employed to strengthen it structurally and eliminate any possibility of noise or fumes from the engine. The driving compartment in all models has been completely insulated. No radical changes have been made in the general appearance of the new bodies, but a wealth of fine details and new appointments have been embodied to increase the luxurious riding comfort of the new Buick Eight.

Among the engineering advancements on the new Buick Eight, in addition to the syncro-mesh transmission, are an engine oil temperature regulator, dual carburetion, combined intake silencer and air cleaner, new crankcase ventilating system, improved steering gears, one-piece rear axle housing, new clutches and four-point rubber insulated engine mountings.

The new line is offered in twenty models, divided into four different wheelbase lengths. The six models in the 8-50 series are carried on a 114-inch wheelbase and powered with an eight-in-line overhead-valve motor, which has a bore and stroke of 2 1/4 x 4 1/4 inches. This motor is rated at 76 1/2 horsepower and provides a speed of 75 miles per hour.

In the 8-60 series five models are offered on a 118-inch wheel base. The motor used in this series has a bore and stroke of 3 x 4 1/4 inches, developing 90 horsepower and a speed of 80 miles per hour.

In the 8-80 and 8-90 series a motor having a bore and stroke of 3 1/4 x 5 inches drives the car at a speed of 80 miles per hour with a 104 rated horsepower. Two models are presented in the 8-80 series on a 124-inch wheelbase, and the 8-90 series on a 132-inch wheelbase is composed of seven models.

The new Buick Eight produces a new sensation in driving; there is no apparent change in smoothness, noise or vibration from low to high speeds, and the car can be driven with great ease, comfort and safety.

Silent operation, due to improvements made in the overhead valve mechanism, the use of the syncro-mesh transmission, and the insulation of the body, is one of the outstanding features of the new Buick Eight.

ZEN of the Y. D.
A Novel of the Foothills
By ROBERT STEAD
Author of "The Cow Puncher," "The Homesteaders," "Neighbors," etc.
Well, I guess it means you've lost it, and I've lost a good friend, said Landson, as he returned. "I'm sorry about your loss, but glad to hear of your good luck. If I may put it that way. What do you reckon she's worth?" he asked, waiting as long as his patience permitted. "I don't know. Possibly six or eight millions! Jehoshaphat! You will do with it?" "I have never worried about it, if I had I wouldn't be here. I care for the money, but any son who takes it from me is a man that I am, and I'll sit up at both ends of the day to beat his own game. Now, just as you can line up some one to charge I'll have to beat it." "I put his affairs in order as best as possible, and started for East with a trunkful of clothes. Even before he started one thought crossed my mind to haunt him. He crushed down, but it would insist. If only he had happened a year ago. He reached his old home city late at night, and after a quiet cigar and a walk through some of the half-forgotten streets he put up at one of the hotels. He was deferentially shown to a room about as large as a whole Landson house; soft lights burning under pink shades; his bed noisily on the thick carpet. He placed a chair by a window, so he could watch the myriad lights of the city, and tried to appraise the new sphere in which he found himself. It would be a very different life from riding the ranges or roping steers, but it would be a game, anyhow; a game in which he might have to stand on his own feet even more than in those old days in the foothills. He had the notion of the game even though he was indifferent to the prize. He had no clear idea what he even should do with his wealth; it was something to think about carefully in the days and years to come. In the meantime his job was to handle a big business in the city should be handled. He turned the water into his bath; it was a smell about the towels, linen, the soap, that was very new to his nostrils. The morning he passed by the office of Grant & Son. He did not go in, but pursued his way to a door where a great brass plate announced the law firm of Barrett, Jones, Barrett, and Barrett. He smiled at this generation of names; it represented generations of the Barrett family and two sons-in-law. Grant found himself speculating over a name for Landson ranch; it might have been Landson, Grant, Landson, Murdock, Skimmer & Pete. As a result of his interview it was arranged that Mr. Jones, second partner of the firm of legal lights, should take Grant's affairs under his particular care until the young Western felt safe in his new saddle. Grant, accompanied by Jones, finally appeared at the office of his father's firm he was received with a pleasant amounting almost to obsequiousness. Mr. Jones, the chief clerk, and a man who had known him in the old days when he had been "Mr. Denny," led him into the private office which for so many years been the sacred domain of the senior Grant. Only big men or trusted employees were in the office of passing those silent green bills. "Well, Murdy, old boy, how goes it?" Grant had said when they met, taking a hand in a husky grip. "Not so bad, sir; not so bad, considering the shock of the accident, sir. We are all so glad to see you—who knew you before, sir." "Listen, Murdy," said Grant. "What's the idea of all the sirs?" "Why," said the somewhat abashed clerk, "you know you are now the head of the firm, sir." "Quite so. Because a chauffeur neglected to look over his shoulder I am diverted from a cow puncher to a desk. Well, go easy on it. If a man has native dignity in him he doesn't let it pile on from outside." "Very true sir. I hope you will be comfortable here. Some memorable matters have been transacted within these walls, sir. Let me take your hat and cane." "Cane? What cane?" "Your stick, sir; didn't you have a stick?" "What for? Have you rattlers here? I see—more dignity. No, I don't want a stick. Perhaps when I'm 'Tou'll have to try and accommodate yourself to our manners," said Jones, when Murdock had left the room. "They may seem unnecessary, even absurd, but they are sanctioned by custom, and, you know, civilization is built on custom. The poet speaks of a freedom which 'slowly broadens down from precedent to precedent.' Precedent is custom. Never defy custom, or you will find her your master. Humor her and she will be your slave. Now I think I shall leave, while you try and attune yourself to the atmosphere of these surroundings." So this was the room which had been the inner shrine of the firm of Grant & Son. The quarters were new since he had left the East; the furnishings revealed that large simplicity which is elegance and wealth. A painting of the elder Grant hung from the wall; Dennison stood before it, looking into the sad, capable, gray eyes. What had life brought to his father that was worth the price those eyes reflected? Dennison found his own eyes moistening with memories now strangely poignant. "Environment," the young man murmured, as he turned from the portrait, "environment, master of everything! And yet—" A photograph of Roy stood on the mantelpiece, and beside it, in a little silver frame, was one of his mother. Grant pulled himself together and fell to an examination of the papers in his father's desk. Grant's first concern was to get a grasp of the business affairs which had so unexpectedly come under his direction. To accomplish this he continued the practice of the Landson ranch; he was up every morning at five, and had done a day's work before the members of his staff began to assemble. For advice he turned to Jones and Murdock, and the management of routine affairs he left entirely in the hands of the latter. He had soon convinced himself that the camaraderie of the ranch would not work in a staff of this kind, so while he was formulating plans of his own he left the administration to Murdock. He found this absence of companionship the most unpleasant feature of his position; it seemed that his wealth had elevated him out of the human family. He wavered between amusement and annoyance over the deference that was paid him. Some of the staff were openly terrified at his approach. Not so Miss Bruce. Miss Bruce had tapped on the door and entered with the words, "I was your father's stenographer. He left practically all his personal correspondence to me. I worked at this desk in the corner, and had a private office through the door there into which I slipped when my absence was preferred." She had crossed the room, and, instead of standing respectfully before Grant's desk, had come around the end of it. Grant looked up with some surprise, and noted that her features were not without comprehending qualities. "How do you think you're going to like your job?" she asked. Grant swung around quickly in his chair. No one in the staff had spoken to him like that; Murdock himself would not have dared address him in so familiar a manner. He decided to take a firm position. "Were you in the habit of speaking to my father like that?" "Your father was a man well on in years, Mr. Grant. Every man according to his age." Grant looked at her keenly. Whatever her words, he had to admit that her tone was not impertinent. "You appear to be a very advanced young woman," he remarked. "I am a little surprised—I had hardly thought my father would select young women of your type as his confidential secretaries." "Private stenographer," she corrected. "A little extra side on a title is neither here nor there. Well, I will admit that I rather took your father's breath at times; he discharged me so often it became a habit, but we grew to have a sort of tacit understanding that that was just his way of blowing off steam. You see, I did his work, and I did it right. I never lost my head when he got into a temper; I could always read my notes even after he had spent most of the day in death grips with some business rival. You see, I wasn't afraid of him, nor the least bit. And I'm not afraid of you." "I don't believe you are," Grant admitted. "You are a remarkable woman. I think we shall get along all right if you are able to distinguish between independence and bravado." He turned to his desk, then suddenly looked up again. He was homesick for some one he could talk to frankly. "I don't mind telling you," he said abruptly, "that the deference which is being showered upon me around this institution gives me a good deal of a pain. I've been accustomed to working with men on the same level. They took their orders from me, and they carried them out, but the older hands called me by my first name, and any of them swore back when he thought he had occasion. I can't fit in to this 'Yes sir,' 'no sir,' 'Very good, sir,' way of doing business. It doesn't ring true." "I know what you mean," she said. "There's too much servility in it. And yet one may pay these courtesies and not be servile. I always 'sir'd' your father, and he knew I did it because I wanted to, not because I had to. And I shall do the same with you once we understand each other." "I think we can accept that as a working basis," he agreed. She produced notebook and pencil. "Very well, sir. Do you wish to dictate?" Grant found a little apartment house on a side street, overlooking the lake. Here was a place where the vision could leap out without being beaten back by barricades of stone and brick. He rested his eyes on the distance, and assured the inveigling landlady that the rooms would do, and he would arrange for decorating at his own expense. As he was arranging the books on his shelf a clipping with the account of Zen's wedding fell to the floor. He sat down in his chair and read it slowly through. Later he went out for a walk. PROFESSIONAL-AMATEUR GOLF DISCUSSED BY SPORT EDITOR. In Wednesday's San Antonio Express appeared an article by Fred Mosebach, Sports Editor of the Express, answering a number of questions addressed him in regard to the rulings on professional and amateur golf standings. His article is reprinted here so that local players will be able to govern their actions in regard to participating in golf contests. When is a golfer a professional? Kooter Mac Grail writes from Hondo for education. He says: "Since the opening of a miniature golf course and the starting of contests for cash prizes some discussion has come up regarding the amateur and professional standing of the players. The owner of the course has started a contest with first prize $5 in cash, second $4, third $3, fourth $4, and fifth and sixth places each one week's free play." He asks: 1. Are the participants in this contest considered professionals if they accept the prize money? 2. Are they professionals if they accept the week's free play? 3. Are they professionals if they participate, but refuse to accept any of the awards? 4. If the prizes were loving cups, medals, clubs or golf balls without cash awards would the prize winners and participants be considered professionals? 5. If under Questions 1, 2 and 3 the players are professionals, then how is Bobby Jones an amateur when he played with MacDonald Smith, who received $1,000 for best professional's score in the same tournament? 6. If the players in cash prize contest are professional golfers does this make them professionals in other lines of sport such as baseball, basketball tennis, etc.? Answers: No. 1, yes; No. 2, yes; No. 3, no; No. 4, if they accept cups and medals, no; if they accept golf clubs or golf balls or any useful articles equivalent to cash, yes. No. 5, Bobby Jones played as an amateur, received nothing but glory for his victory and is a simon pure amateur; No. 6, debatable. "Everyone is interested in this matter due to high school athletes fearing to risk their amateur standing by participating," writes Kooter. In amateur sport there should be nothing whatever of a cash value as a prize for victory. Cups and medals bear only intrinsic value to the extent of the metal of which they are composed, and as a merchandising article they are practically worthless further than the amount of gold or silver that may be extracted from meltage. A cup or medal is an emblem of victory, a symbol of art, but a golf club or golf balls are merely merchandise taken off the shelves of a store and offered in lieu of cash, the same as a pair of shoes, pants, box of cigars, or a ham or rocking chair, none of which can be pointed to with lasting pride as having been won on the field of sport. Amateur sport should have no commercial value whatever and an amateur should never capitalize his activities in sport as a means of fostering commercial activities, for instance like selling insurance or acquiring a political job on his record as a sportsman. The War Department did a commendable thing when it issued orders against the use of the uniform for the purpose of fostering selfish commercial of political interests. Sport, like patriotism, should be unselfish, devoid of any ulterior motive for aggrandizement of the individual who so serves. It should be a matter of the heart, not of the pocket book or bank account.

One who serves sport or his country with this spirit is true blue, and his colors never run. As for professional golfers participating in other lines of sport as amateurs, such as base, basketball and tennis, that is hardly compatible. It's the same as professional baseball players participating in amateur golf tournaments. Once a professional in any branch of sport it wouldn't be fair to the simon-pure amateur to class this professional with the amateur, who indulges in sport merely for the love of sport and nothing else. Schools and colleges destroy the spirit of amateur sport when they give free scholarships to students solely because of their athletic ability. Scholarships represent cash and there would be no more violation of the spirit by paying outright salaries to these athletes. Standards of sport, however, may be modified to suit the occasion, the same as the standards of Christianity, but that is a matter for every man to leave to his conscience. NOTICE. Parents who wish to have their children transferred should see the Superintendent before July 31. W. N. SAATHOFF, County Superintendent.

Early Thursday morning a bolt in the steering wheel of a truck caused the car to overturn in a ditch eight miles west to Hondo. The hurt were, Mrs. Margaret Gillen, two children, Edora Moro, Alfredo Vargas and Inez Vargas. They were picked up by passersby and brought to the Hondo Hospital for first aid treatment and afterwards taken in an ambulance to San Antonio.

Sheriff C. J. Schuehle was called to the Medina Lake the first of the week to investigate the circumstances connected with the abandonment of a car. It had not been taken from the lake when we were informed of the circumstances and we are not advised as to what if any cognizance the courts will take of it. This is the second car from the lake since being a peace officer.

HONDO AT ROCK SPRINGS.

Braving the heat and dust of a mid-July day a caravan of some hundred or more Hondoites journeyed up to Rock Springs last Wednesday to participate in festivities of the Sheep and Goat Raisers Convention. The little city high up in the hills of Edwards County proved an oasis of coolness and a haven of rest for the dusty travelers and coupled with an interesting program of rodeo and exhibits, caused the time to pass all too quickly for the visitors.

The main feature of the day, however, was the pageant, "Indian Summer in the Hill Country," depicting the development of the goat industry from its earliest stages up to the present time. The setting was characteristic of that rugged country—the old sheep-herders in their camp with their flocks in the distance, lighted up by the flare of the camp fires and the radiance of a mid-summer moon. The pageant was staged among a group of boulders, which at times became the camp grounds of groups of Indians, cattle barons, cowboys, etc. The play was written by Mr. Ed Armstrong and the music played throughout by the Hondo Symphony Orchestra and the Rock Springs band was of his composition. Mrs. Roland Gaines, who took the leading role as the Indian Princess, "Laughing Water," held her hearers entranced with her beautiful voice in the several solo numbers. Carol Jones as King and Bernice Chancey as Queen of the Fairyland Operetta appeared in a vocal number and the Hondo Glee Club presented several numbers which were well received.

An effective number on the program was the presentation of the Dukes and Duchesses at the "Court of Angora in the Province of Rock Springs." Among them Hondo's representatives, Duke John Henry Meyer and Duchess Helen Ann Miller, in polo garb, won last honorable mention as wearing the most typical costume.

The colorful climax to the evening's entertainment was the coronation of the King, Mr. Rae Moody, and Queen, Miss Leslie Shanklin, both of Rock Springs, before whom five small Hondo girls, Bettye Jean Merriman, Bonnie Jack Cameron, Mary Elizabeth Meyer and Evelyn and Margaret Ann Knopp, pupils of Mrs. Ed. Armstrong, danced several clever numbers in costume.

An audience estimated at more than 2,000 enthusiastically viewed the performance.

A most delightful surprise to the Hondo delegation was the sumptuous barbecue supper given by Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Carter at 5 o'clock at the school grounds. Some eighty-five guests partook of the Carter's well-timed hospitality and carried away with them the memory of their graciousness.

TOMORROW IS ELECTION DAY.

Tomorrow is election day.

Arrangements have been completed for holding the primary election in Medina County, and at this writing the ballots and supplies have been gone out to most of the boxes.

Every qualified voter should perform his sovereign duty of depositing his ballot according to the best knowledge of which he is capable as to the men and measures he thinks will best serve the interests of his state.

This duty performed, he should cheerfully acquiesce in the will of the majority in so far as the result is final.

So long as the American people can do this, free government is safe in their hands.

If free government fails it will be when the free citizen has failed to protect his freedom by doing his sovereign duty.

Vote in the election tomorrow, as on the results will depend the policies that are to guide the State and the men who are to apply those policies.

HONDO TO HAVE TRADES DAY.

Second Wednesday in September Set For Initial Trades Day.

Hondo will have its initial Trades Day on the second Wednesday in September, it being the 10th day of the month. In the meantime, there are many details to be worked out but plans have been definitely fixed to the extent of setting the date and deciding upon the premiums to be offered. Three prizes consisting of a cow, a sow and a pen of four hens and a rooster will be given away on the first day.

At the mass meeting on Wednesday night at the Chamber of Commerce Hall, Joe W. Watson, Secretary of the Sabinal Chamber of Commerce, who has managed Sabinal's Trades Days for the past six years, explained in some detail the plan followed by them, and it was decided to adopt a similar plan for Hondo.

A Board of Directors, consisting of Joe Dillon, Hy. Merriman and Earl Boon, was appointed to direct the Trades Day. Prof. W. N. Saathoff will be in charge of the drawing, the first one of which will take place on College Square, in front of the Courthouse at three o'clock P. M. on the day of the drawing.

County Agent C. M. Merritt will supervise the selection and purchase of the live stock and poultry for the premiums.

One of the first details to be arranged is the securing of the tickets and the announcement of where they can be secured, and for what amount of purchase. As soon as this is complete the enterprise will be on.

The purpose of the Trades Day is to extend Hondo's trade territory and to induce all therein to make Hondo their trading point. Watch for developments and tell your neighbors about it.

LION ROARS.

Tuesday at noon the Hondo Lions issued from their dens and assembled at the Favorite for their weekly feed, etc. Chairman Lion Smith in a fitting way spoke briefly of the sterling qualities of our departed friend and Lion, H. F. Wurzbach, and as a token of respect the Lions stood with bowed heads while Rev. Lion Heineke offered a fervent prayer for the family of the deceased.

After luncheon Dr. Lion Knopp spoke in glowing words of the Rock Springs celebration. About one hundred people from Hondo were in attendance. The duchess with her attendants and other participants did justice to the occasion and won several "firsts." Most of the Hondo people were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sid G. Carter for a five-o'clock dinner. Dr. Knopp is favorably impressed with Rock Springs and predicts it to be a booming oil field ere long.

Next Tuesday Mr. Colp of the Highway Department will meet with Hondo Lions who, after dinner with a delegation from Hondo, will visit Tarpley, Bandera and other nearby towns. He has a message for the Lions and citizens in general. He believes in advertising our own country by telling the world of the many scenic places along our mountain streams.

Let every Lion hear him. Mr. and Mrs. D. B. McManus of Thomaston spent Monday and Tuesday here with Mr. Bine Stone.

TEXAS AND TEXANS.

"All Texans for All Texas"

Talking Up Home Town

The Santa Anna News wisely says: "While Texans are talking Texas let Santa Anna folks lay down on the job of talking Santa Anna." Some people hold to the idea that any other town or community is better than that in which they live and overlook the good things close at hand. In talking Texas, and we should all talk Texas, the talk should begin at home and radiate from there. Santa Anna has many advantages that other towns do not have, many things to make for better living than in other places, many citizens any other town would be glad to have. Santa Anna people need to know more about their town and to talk among themselves and with visitors about it.

But in their talk Santa Anna folks should remember, as they do, that Santa Anna is a part of the great State of Texas and that Santa Anna can't progress unless Texas also progresses. No town can hold itself apart and thrive, any more than an individual who lives the life of a hermit can succeed. Texas is a great State, made up of many units like Santa Anna, each largely dependent upon the others, but each responsible directly for its own advancement.

Newspapers and Growth

A writer who has looked over the census figures of several thousand towns of less than 5,000 population, says that he found that every town that had made substantial growth in the past ten years has had the active support of a progressive local newspaper, and that every town that had lost population had a poor paper. It may be that a poor town causes the best paper to get discouraged and let up in its efforts, and that the paper is after all but the reflection of the enterprise, or lack of enterprise of a people, but it does seem that there would be some notable exceptions to the rule. At any rate, it behooves the publisher whose paper is in a town that isn't quite all it should be, to look about to see if he and his paper are not somewhat to blame.

State-Wide Industrial Program

Fletcher Davis of the Hondo Anvil Herald, thinks that the great need of Texas is a well-balanced program of industrialization that can best be brought about by an industrial board whose duty it would be to "discover, identify and broadcast to the world the industrial opportunities which lie hidden within the State. If such a board could be organized in the interest of the entire State, without local or section bias, but having in purpose the creation of a wide-spread industrial-mindedness and the assistance of every Texas community seeking industrial development, the prosperity of the entire State would be stimulated in a remarkable degree.

While agriculture may be the "backbone" of prosperity, the greatest need of the State now is industrialization along lines to support its agricultural development. A department of industry is now needed even more than a department of agriculture.

Political Endurance Contests

The Texas political campaign begins to look like a marathon and some of the candidates seem to regard it as such. Airplanes are used by some in order that they may cover as much territory in a day as possible and the nights are made merry with radio speeches. An intimation that one candidate was a "wo-n-out" politician brought forth the response that the charge was untrue as he had traveled 300 miles and made four speeches within a day. It's a great game while it lasts.

Pecan Marketing Group

Pecan growers appear to be on the way to organizing an association to handle and market the pecan crop. In fact, a co-operative sales agency has been formed with $200,000 capital stock and has the approval of the Federal Farm Board. H. C. Lucas of Brownwood, is president of the organization, which expects to be ready to handle the 1930 pecan crop.

Live-At-Home Fair

Winters has held a rather unique fair—a live-at-home exposition—the central idea being to show the people how they may live on the products of their own community and even their own farms. When farmers once learn that it is important for them to produce at home every thing that can be grown or made there that goes into the home living, a far step will have been made toward the solution of farm problems, and more relief will result than can be obtained from any "Farm Relief Act," or Federal farm board.

Why Take Back Seat?

The Zavalla Sentinel sees some disposition on the part of the people of its community to be satisfied with the money made from the spinach and onion crops and just wait around until the time for planting these crops again, although their lands will produce many other crops for which there is as great a demand as for spinach and onions. Pearsall is shipping watermelons and blackeyed peas; Devine has grown immense feed crops and has made money shipping carloads of roasting ears; Carrizo Springs is already making plans for a strawberry crop; poultry associations are being formed all about; dairy routes are being established; other sections are pointing the way to success through diversification. Why depend too much on any one crop, however good it may be?

Wilson County Products

A writer in the Floresville Chronicle-Journal tells of the hundreds of cars of melons that have been shipped from that county this season, but thinks shipments will fall short of the 600 cars sent out last year. However, 18 cars of blackeyed peas have brought the farmers $35,000 and other side lines have made the county a bit independent of the reign of "King Cotton."

Cuero Butter Beat

At the National Dairy Show at Memphis, Tenn., a Cuero creamery was awarded first prize in the Texas butter contest. This creamery sold more than 1,000,000 pounds of butter, in 1929, in ten of Texas' largest cities. Texas creameries are now equipped—many of them, at least—with the most modern machinery; Texas grasses and hays are unexcelled, and there is no reason why Texas butter should not equal any made in the world.

Texas Turkeys Abroad

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Stanley of San Saba county, have expressed a pair of their best Narragansett turkeys to London to enter the World's Poultry Congress, as representatives of the best turkeys grown in America. The birds will be returned to this country after the show and Texas turkey growers are hoping they may capture prizes as world winners.

Guadalupe Canal

Congressman Mansfield of Texas, in a talk at Victoria envisaged fleets of Government barges plying the intra-coastal canal from points as far away as Minneapolis and Pittsburgh. The Government is now operating a barge line from Minneapolis to New Orleans that is both paying the Government and saving the public millions in freight charges, and there is no good reason why this service may not in a few years be extended to a number of Texas points fortunate enough to be connected with the canal.

Ten Cows a Fortune

A Bexar county farmer who has kept books since that one of his cows has netted him, above market costs of feed and pasturage, $1.10 a day. He thinks that by carefully culling dairy herds this average should be sustained. If so, the farmer with 10 cows should realize $330 a month for his labor in caring for the cows, less, of course, interest in investment, depreciation and taxes.

Texas Vegetable Shipments

According to the report of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Texas carload vegetable shipments in May, 1930, totaled 10,637 cars as against 5,764 cars in May, 1929, which shows the forward trend of diversification in the State.

Texas Exports Increase

While the low price of cotton caused export values at Texas ports to decrease in 1929, there was an increase in volume over 1928 and in values over 1927. This shows the growing importance of Texas export trade. Much of this increase is attributable to the opening of the port at Corpus Christi and the business of that port is due to increase rapidly. The volume of the Texas export trade is largely the cause of the liberal appropriation for the deep water port at Point Isabel. Texas can hardly boast, though, of its exports so long as it continues to export raw products rather than manufactured goods. The great need of the State is increased manufacturing. Industrial development is proceeding slowly and hardly in keeping with agricultural production. It has been checked somewhat lately by the tightened financial condition of the entire country, which has caused money to seek retirement which ordinarily would have gone into industry.

Financing Railroads

Despite the unusual timidity of the money market, there seems to be plenty of money available for building railroads in Texas. The Panhandle section is doing more railroad building than for a number of years past and will be building more if the Interstate Commerce Commission will permit the construction. The Santa Fe's line toward Presidio is another fine bit of railway enterprise that cries of hard times has not checked. It is reported that $5,000,000 is awaiting investment in the Gulf & West Texas Railway, when the promoters of that line and the towns along the line from San Antonio to San Angelo have complied with certain preliminary conditions. Railroads in Texas are expanding notwithstanding all the talk about the railroad business being crippled by highway truck transportation competition.

Del Rio Gets Gas

It is hard to think of so progressive a town as Del Rio, reasonably close to immense gas fields, being without natural gas until now, but it seems to be true that work is soon to be started on building the mains that will carry the gas into that city. Del Rio will then be wondering how it has ever managed to get along without this modern convenience.

CASTROVILLE, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, JULY 23, 1930

Sheriff Chas. J. Schuehle of Hondo was a business visitor in our midst the middle of the past week, summing grand and petit jurors for the August term of District Court.

The delegates from here who attended the Katholische Staatsverband, which convened at Moulton, Texas, returned home Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Groff and sons of San Antonio arrived in our midst Thursday on an extended visit to kinfolks. Charles is a San Antonio fireman and is enjoying a fifteen day vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. August Tschirhart and two other ladies were San Antonio visitors the middle of the week.

Mr. Louis Fuos was a San Antonio business visitor Friday.

Cotton Reduction Small

Last winter when cotton began to toboggan toward what appeared to be the bottom in prices there was much talk of acreage reduction and it was predicted by some that the decrease would be as much as 25 per cent. It is now announced that the reduction has been only 2.7 per cent with the Texas crop being reduced 4 per cent. Evidently there are farmers who would rather grow cotton at a loss than not to grow it at all. But for the speaking campaign that was made all over the South, though, the acreage would probably have been increased at least 15 per cent.

Politics and Agriculture

Comanche evidently believes in putting some business into its political meetings. When the candidates wanted to have a big political meeting it was decided to combine it with a fruit and truck show. Five thousand people attended, and when they didn't want to listen to the candidates or look at them, they looked at the fresh and canned fruits and vegetables of the many varieties grown in Comanche county and exchanged experiences about growing and canning the products.

Florida and Texas

Florida has a population something less than 1,500,000. Texas has four times as many. Just think what Texas could accomplish if Texans talked as much and as boastfully as the Floridians do. Really Texas needs a little more of the boosting that Florida gets.

Point Isabel Improvements

It is announced that work on the construction of the Point Isabel causeway across Laguna Madre will be completed by January 1. A boulevard 100 feet wide is to be built connecting the causeway with the Gulf of Mexico, across Padre Island. Other improvements to make an attractive resort are planned. Interesting developments.

New Ford Car Wins Favor

Ford Phaeton

THE Ford Phaeton, shown above, is equally popular as a family car and as a sport car for young people. The seating arrangement provides for the driver and one passenger in front and three passengers in the rear. Seats are upholstered in two-tone cross cobra grain artificial leather. The top is of the quick collapsing type, easily handled by one person, and folds flat. The windshield, of Triplex shatter-proof glass, is of the folding type and can be laid flat forward. The windshield wings fold over it, emphasizing the sport effect of the car.

Income Tax Receipts Grow

Substantial increase in income tax receipts in Southwest Texas is evidence to the San Antonio Express that business is improving, since people do not pay larger income taxes unless incomes are larger. There is less unemployment for those who are not too particular as to what they do to make a living.

May Straighten Rio Grande

The International Boundary Commission is taking the preliminary steps to straighten the Rio Grande from El Paso southwest to Quitman Canyon. This will be made the basis for a treaty that will be negotiated between Mexico and the United States for definitely fixing a stable boundary between the two countries. Straightening the river will greatly shorten its length, though perhaps at the expense of its picturesqueness.

Increasing Dairy Profits

The Bexar County Herd Improvement Association has increased the butter fat production per cow this year 5.1 pounds more than in June, 1928, and decreased the cost of producing butter fat 8-10 of a cent a pound through attention to the improvement of dairy herds. The herd increase in the county has been nearly 25 per cent within the last year. To compete with northern dairymen Texas must give closer attention than it has been giving to the elimination of "boarders" from their dairy herds.

Dallas-Fort Worth

Dallas and Fort Worth appear to have buried the hatchet, at least to the extent of working together for Trinity River navigation and the improvement of the channel. In anticipation of the canalization of the river, it is announced that work is to be started on the turning basin near Dallas at an early date. It looks like a queer place at which to start the river improvement, but evidently "there is a reason."

THE FARMERS' SHORT COURSE.

College Station, Texas, July 24.—

Completion of detailed program for the twenty-first annual Farmers' Short Course at the A. & M. College of Texas July 28-August 1, as announced by Extension Service officials, discloses a wide range of discussion in agricultural and home-making fields for men and women, boys and girls. Numerous recognized experts, including W. F. Schilling of the Federal Farm Board, Dr. O. E. Baker, bureau of agricultural economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, and others will contribute to the general programs, while the group programs will be conducted by specialists of much experience in their respective fields.

All told, the five day gathering promises a series of addresses and talks covering the general field of agricultural endeavor with emphasis on modern methods and particular attention to timely phases. Attendance is expected to be around 5,000 with the representation of 4-H Club boys and girls equalling last year's record of 1,700.

President T. O. Walton of the college will formerly open the short course with an address Monday morning, July 28. Director O. B. Martin of the Extension Service will preside at the opening session.

The program has been so planned as to offer sessions of particular appeal to members of every group. Special group sessions for men, boys, women and girls have been worked out and general entertainment features, including historical and agricultural pageant "Texas, the Magnificent," to be presented Thursday night on the lawn at Guion Hall, will augment the more serious group discussions and talks.

A series of general lecture programs dealing with the farm problem from three aspects—efficient utilization of land, efficient distribution of farm products and cutting the cost of production—will be held in the morning. These discussions are expected to appeal particularly to farmers; and county agents, Dean E. J. Kyle of the school of agriculture, A. & M. College, will open this series with a discussion of "The Triangle of Agriculture." Other speakers who will appear in the series of farm problem talks will include Dr. Gus W. Dyer, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. O. E. Baker, senior agricultural economist, bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture; W. F. Schilling, member Federal Farm Board; John C. Burns, manager Texas Livestock Marketing Association, Fort Worth; Lawrence Westbrook, organization manager, Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, Dallas, and others.

Addresses of general interest, for which will be given every night except Thursday night when the outdoor pageant with an all-farm cast will be staged, speakers for these night programs will include Dr. Gus W. Dyer, Nashville, Tenn.; W. F. Schilling, member Federal Farm Board; Mrs. E. E. Davis, Arlington; Tom Connally, United States Senator for Texas.

Group sessions for subject matter consideration will be held in the afternoon for men, and in the morning and afternoons for women and girls and for boys, joint meetings will be held every morning by the boys and girls.

The subject matter programs for men will be given over to discussion of poultry, field crops and farm engineering and horticulture.

Homemakers programs for women and girls will feature subjects of special interest to farm women and girls. Recognition of Texas Master Farm Homemakers will be accorded at the opening of these group sessions Monday morning, July 28.

For the sake of convenience the groups of boys and girls will be divided into sections, the boys into four sections and the girls into five sections. Each section of the boys group will receive the same program and turn as will be the case with the girls group.

Special meetings to be held during the period of the short course and in conjunction with it include: Council Superintendents Conference, directed by Prof. W. L. Hughes, department of rural education, A. & M. College; Texas Beekeepers' Association, July 29; Dr. S. W. Blasing, department of entomology, A. & M. College, in charge; Agricultural Writers Conference, session every afternoon, A. D. Jackson, chief, division of publications, Experiment Station, in charge; Experiment Station Workers, daily in building; Extension Workers Conference, daily; co-operative marketing session, Monday afternoon, July 28.

ANOTHER FINE VICTORY WON BY NEW KONJOLA.

Lady Was About To Give Up Hope of Finding Escape From Stubborn Ills.

MRS. FLORA STANLEY

No wonder Konjola has won a million friends; no wonder seven million bottles were used in two years! Would you like to know all about the medicine that wins such triumphs? Ask your druggist about it, but right now before you do anything else, read the words of Mrs. Flora Stanley, 315 North McMasters street, Amarillo, Texas. Praising Konjola, Mrs. Stanley says:

"I was in miserable health for five years, the result of stomach, kidney and liver disorders. My back ached terribly and my feet and ankles were badly swollen. Gas formed after each meal, and I endured awful pains. My husband insisted that I try Konjola, and now I have a good appetite, food digests as it should, dizziness and biliousness are gone and my weight is back to normal. We will always recommend Konjola after what it did for us."

Konjola is sold in Hondo, Texas, at W. H. Windrow's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

BIPPERT FAMILY HOLDS REUNION.

NATALIA, Tex., July 12.—Nearly 200 guests, all but a score of whom were relatives, attended a reunion of the Bippert family at the Bippert homestead here recently, celebrating the 80th birthday of Mrs. Bertha Bippert (nee Guelndner) who was born at Griefswald, Pommern, Germany, June 27, 1850.

Sixty years ago, July 4, Mrs. Sofia Guelndner, two sons and two daughters, one of whom became Mrs. Fritz Bippert, landed in San Antonio. It was a two day's journey to the present site of the Bippert homestead which now is less than an hour's distance from the city by automobile. Mrs. Bippert was the mother of five sons and one daughter. The latter in 1925 married Capt. Fred S. Hayes, a retired ship captain, who purchased the old homestead and modernized it.

The reunion was held on a velvety lawn under huge live-oaks, lighted by hundreds of electric lights, and at the reunion a supper of barbecued goat, fried chicken, and other foods was served. In the center table was a birthday cake with 80 candles.

Guests were present from San Antonio, Hondo, Castroville and Kingsville and the list included: Mrs. Bippert's four sons, Albert, Walter, Fred and Arthur, Mrs. Martha Bippert, Sauz; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Bippert, LaCoste; Mr. and Mrs. Max Bippert, Sauz; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bippert, Jr., Sauz; Mr. and Mrs. Willie Tschirhart, Sauz; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Biry, Biry, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. George Etter, Castroville; Mrs. Hilda Franger, Sauz; Miss Hattie Bippert, Sauz; Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Ahr and baby, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bippert, Cliff; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Koenig and family, LaCoste; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bippert, Hondo; Mrs. Bertha Nixon, Moore; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Zinsmeyer and baby, LaCoste; Mrs. Hattie Hehn, San Antonio; Albert Kohr, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Mann, San Antonio; August Schildknecht, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hymas, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. John Neely, Natalia; Joe Bridgman, Natalia; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ziegenbalg, Natalia; Mr. and Mrs. Willie Ziegenbalg and family, Hondo; Bob Simmons, Kings-

To My Friends and All Voters of Commissioner's Precinct No. 1.

I am again announcing myself as a candidate for the office of Commissioner of Precinct No. 1, believing it is time a change should be made in that official position of the County.

It is my purpose, in making the race for Commissioner, to try and not only try, but improve our public roads of my precinct, without favor or hope of reward, and to economically manage as far as I can the finances of the County, provided the voters and tax payers will so honor me with their support.

Hence I am asking all voters in Precinct No. 1 who have confidence in my integrity and ability to fill the office, for their support at the next election in November, 1930.

Trusting I will be your next Commissioner,

I am, most respectfully,
ALVIN MUMME.

VIEWS OF OUR NEWS.

By the Chicagoan.

A Stranger in a Distant City Reads The Anvil Herald and Comments On Its Contents.

Howdy, folks! You don't know me, but from reading each issue of The Anvil Herald as it comes to my desk, I feel at home with you. If Editor Davis sees fit, I will tell you what interested me about you as your news appeared in the paper of July 11.

For instance, right now, I'm wondering whether Hondo business men will decide to follow the course of others and institute a series of Trades Days.

Many have read about the Lion and the Mouse, but is took the Anvil Herald to record the story of the Lions and the Mosquitoes. A most laudable effort is that of the Hondo Lions to eradicate mosquitoes from their town.

And now that Hondo has a miniature golf course, she is right in line with other live towns both large and small. It was only last spring that small golf courses began to appear in Chicago, and the smaller places are only a few months behind. At that those little golf courses provide a means of recreation that is better than night clubs in the city, and some places you people in Hondo know about right in your own locality.

Will H. Mayes opines that there are 7,895 individuals who are candidates for some office in the coming Texas primaries. After the election, there will be a lot of foolish looking faces peering down on the populace from the billboards, and those who received only a handful of votes will seem to be singing the national hymn of Siam. Know what that is? "O! What An A Siam!"

Well, you have one candidate for Governor in Texas who hasn't much of a chance, from all indications, but whose vote will be watched with interest. In most states, interest in your election will center first on the winning of the nominations for Governor and Senator, and then on the vote that Frank Putnam, the "dripping wet" candidate, received.

Congratulations to Miss Alma Batot on the occasion of her 13th birthday.

When you have finished reading this issue of The Anvil Herald, count up the number of news items it contained. If there are as many as there were last week, you should be able to form some idea as to the amount of work required to publish your home newspaper, and if your subscription is not paid, you should remit at once since surely you do not want so much done for you without pay.

HERBERT LAMB WINS GOLF CONTEST.

With a score of 45, Herbert Lamb won first place in the Hondo Miniature Golf Contest that closed Wednesday at the Hondo Miniature Golf course. Second place was captured by Volney Boon with a score of 46. All the scores were close with only 5 strokes separating first and sixth places. Jerome Foster was third with a 47; Homer King took fourth with a 48; while John Finger and Ernest Schneider with 49 and 49½ took fifth and sixth places respectively.

Although their scores were high and the winners separated by a wide number, the ladies had a spirited contest that furnished much entertainment. Mrs. Albert Hutzler won first with 50. Miss Francis Finger by scoring 56 was second. Third and fourth places were tied for by Miss Adel Decker and Mrs. C. Scheuhle, each scoring 58. Fifth place was won by Mrs. Earl Starnes with 62 and sixth place went to Mrs. Robert Kollman, who had a 67.

New hazards are being installed on the course to furnish more sport for players.

S. J. R. No. 7 PROPOSING A CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON NOVEMBER 4, 1930.

Be is resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Section 11 of Article VII of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 11. In order to enable the Legislature to perform the duties set forth in the foregoing section, it is hereby declared all lands and other property heretofore set apart and appropriated for the establishment and maintenance of the University of Texas, together with all the proceeds of sales of the same, heretofore made or hereafter to be made, and all grants, donations and appropriations that may hereafter be made by the State of Texas, or from any other source, shall constitute and become a permanent university fund. And the same as realized and received into the Treasury of the State (together with such sums belonging to the fund, as may now be in the Treasury), shall be invested in bonds of the United States, the State of Texas, or counties of said State, or in school bonds of municipalities, or in bonds of any city of this State, or in obligations and pledges issued by the Board of Regents of the University of Texas, or secured by such obligations and pledges, for the construction of dormitories and other buildings for the use of the University of Texas, or in bonds issued under and by virtue of the Federal Farm Loan Act approved by the President of the United States, July 17, 1916, and amendments thereto; and the interest accruing thereon shall be subject to appropriation by the Legislature to accomplish the purpose declared in the foregoing section; provided, that the one-tenth of the alternate sections of the lands granted to railroads, reserved by the State, which were set apart and appropriated to the establishment of the University of Texas, by an Act of the Legislature of February 11, 1858, entitled, "An Act to establish the University of Texas," shall not be included in, or constitute a part of, the permanent university fund."

Sec. 2. Said proposed amendment shall be voted on by the electors of this State qualified to vote on constitutional amendments at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1930.

Secretary of State.
TO THE PRESS PEOPLE OF TEXAS.

My dear friends:

We are going to have a good Writers Conference this year. The forenoon will be spent variously in the early part of the morning and in the general sessions from 9:30 to 12:00. The entire forenoon on Tuesday will be spent with the County Superintendents. On Thursday the first hour and a half will be spent with the County Agents while the remainder of the forenoon will be spent with the County Superintendents. Another forenoon, possibly Friday will be spent with the Home Demonstration Agents until 9:30. The general program of the Short Course from 9:30 to 12:00 each forenoon is to be very interesting this year and it is desirable for the Writers present to attend these sessions. Our writers' program proper will be held as usual in the conference room of the Extension Building beginning at 1:30 every afternoon. On Monday afternoon the entire Experiment Station Staff will meet with the Writers and the program will be devoted to a discussion of the work of the Experiment Station that can be presented in the newspapers. The discussion will be largely in the hands of the press people. The detailed programs for the afternoon sessions have not been prepared but at least one or two of these will be in the hands of the women. Since it is impossible to know in advance who will be present the several subjects will be assigned largely from day to day. Fletcher Davis, of Hondo, the President of the Conference, will be in the chair which means there will not be a dull or profitless moment during any session.

When you arrive at the College go directly to the hospital where there will be no charge for registration. It will probably be as well for you to pay for your meals as you go rather than buy a week's meal ticket.

In case you are coming by rail be sure to write to your passenger agent and arrange for advertising to cover the expenses of this trip.

Please send as many members of your staff as you can spare from the office. It will be a good week's training.

Sincerely yours,
A. D. JACKSON, Chief
Division of Publications.
